LOVE'S OLD SWEET SONG

Water for Lake Elsinore

There is an old recording about a man in a rented house who had his window shutters blown down by a wind-storm and was endeavoring to explain what happened to his landlord over the telephone.

It started out: "Last night da vind came in and blew down my shutters and I vont you to send a car-penter out to fix the damaged shutters . . . no I am not swearing . . . da shutters—da damaged shutters . . . last night da vind came in and . . ." over and over he went with the same story until finally he gave up and said "never mind. I fix it myself." And that's exactly how we are beginning to feel about water for Lake Elsinore.

For seventeen months we have been repeating the same old story about water for Lake Elsinore and it looks like we are right back to where we started, the only difference between us and the man with the damaged shutters is that we can't fix it ourselves.

When Lake Mathews is filled to overflowing with Colorado River water there may be some surplus available for Lake Elsinore but Lake Mathews is not filled at this writing.

Then there is the story about a couple of valves which it seems are necessary to manufacture and install before the water can be turned in to the channel leading to the lake and it takes two months for that job, they tell us, and meanwhile summer is approaching when there is seldom any surplus water available and the officials of the Metropolitan Water District and state officials are still in a hassle over whose responsibility it would be in case the lake was filled and then dried up again in the course of a few years.

Maybe the MWD wouldn't have surplus water available at that time and some person who had made an investment in a business, dependent upon an active lake, would sue the state or MWD for damages, which one would be responsible. The MWD wants no part of that responsibility and the state seems reluctant to be the goat.

And meanwhile Governor Brown has found a new toy in the form of a proposal for a California-Nevada interstate compact which would permit development of a huge park on the shores of Lake Tahoe.

The 1963 Legislature will be asked to approve the compact after its final draft is approved by the California Commission on Interstate Co-operation. This deal involves the purchase of 34,000 acres of park lands at an estimated cost of $30 million and most of the land would be on the Nevada side.

It is hoped that Governor Brown and other state officials will concentrate on finishing the Lake Elsinore recreation facilities already approved by the Legislature before becoming involved in some long range plan of the future.

We in Southern California need it filled with water at the earliest possible moment and even Frank Pasquale "can't fix it himself."

Perris Valley Chamber hits all-time high

"Only an unexpected catastrophe can now stop the forward motion of the Perris Valley." So spoke its president, the Rev. Luther Steiner, as he reported recent activities of the Perris Valley Chamber of Commerce. Membership is at an all time high of 189 and still growing. Membership Chairman Ed Sudik and his committee are in the second phase of the drive, calling upon chiefly the non-resident land owners for active support.

As reported to the Chamber members on February 14, the Board of Directors has approved the publication of two important brochures, a revised "Tourist Brochure" and the much desired "Industrial Brochure." The latter brochure will be of significant consequence, because it will present detailed statistics covering the entire range of industrial potential in the Perris Valley. Industrial chairman Marvin Funk and his committee are compiling the Industrial Brochure which will soon go to press.

The "Tourist Brochure" is being revised under the leadership of Jack Savage. It will contain a classified business directory of all Chamber members.

Progress in Perris received a lift at the Board meeting on February 7 when the Directors voted to increase the Directorate to 15 members beginning with September 1963.

ly Dinner meeting held at King's Inn, Sun City on February 14. Featured was Herbert Greydanus, Chief Planning Engineer for the Feather River Project Southern District. He presented a thrilling account of the progress being made along the 450 mile route of the delivery system of Feather River water which will terminate at the Perris Reservoir. According to Mr. Greydanus, all projects are on schedule and water will be delivered to the Perris Reservoir in 1972. Of special interest involving the Reservoir are the plans being made to use the lake for all recreational purposes. For those interested, aerial views and a relief may be seen at Security First National Bank in Perris.

On the same program of the Valentine Dinner were V. E. Babcock, member of the Riverside County Board of Trade and Louis Boettcher, member of the Industrial Committee of the Board of Trade. ■

Atnips celebrate 50th anniversary

Fifty years of married life were marked last month by Mr. and Mrs. Milton Atnip of Lakeland Village with a reception held in their honor at the home of their daughter, Mrs. J. W. Burke, of North Downey.

A buffet luncheon was served, highlighted by a three-tier anniversary cake and a tree, bearing money, was presented to the couple. (If the tree continues to produce the editor would like to secure a few buds from it to graft on some of his non-producing trees.)

Attending the party were the Atnips' two daughters, Pauline Burke and family, Mildred Fischbek and family, five grandchildren, two great-grandchildren and a total of 94 relatives and friends. ■

Perris claims safe traffic record

The safest place to drive in Riverside County is Perris, according to Police Chief Joseph Beckley, who believes his city has the best traffic safety record in the county.

"There have been only two minor traffic accidents in Perris since January 1," declared the Chief. "and the city has not reported a personal injury accident for more than a year."

The last fatal traffic accident occurred some four or five years ago, Chief Beckley added.

Cooperation and driving habits of Perris residents and stiff traffic code enforcement by the city's four patrolmen were cited by the Chief as the reason for the outstanding safety record. ■

Dinty Moore dinner set for March 21

The Elsinore Womans Reciprocity Tea, held on Valentine Day, February 14, was also in the nature of a club birthday celebration inasmuch as the first meeting of the organization was held in February of 1906. The Elsinore Club was hostess to club members from clubs in the De Anza District and it proved to be one of the most popular of the parties given during the club year.

The program, arranged by Mrs. J. D. McDowell, program chairman, featured "The Vocal Chords" of Ontario, a vocal trio under the direction of Mrs. Robert S. Scott Sr., and consisted of a variety of selections. The three artists of the trio were Mesdames Suzanna Capparalli, soprano; June Would, second, and Shirley Scott, alto.

Hostesses for the day were Mesdames Thomas S. Elder, chairman, Dean Yoder, Gertrude Flyte, Dwight Connor, T. J. Hudson, Glenn Westphal, Della Clark, and Edward L. Misner Sr. The luncheon committee was Mesdames Harvey French, chairman, J. D. McDowell, A. S. Averill, E. D. Clapp, and Ruth Veneable.

A brunch card party will be held by the club on March 7 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. with many door prizes featuring the event. Donation will be $1.00 and tickets are available to the public.

The popular Dinty Moore dinner will be held March 21 in the club house from 6 to 8 p.m. with the donation $2.00, and worth every cent of it. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. B. C. James. 678-2253 or at the Mode O' Day Shop. Special door prizes will be given. ■

Vote "Yes" for School Bonds March 5

Have you ever gone by a school with a child and have him turn to you and proudly say "That's my school"? There's a lot of depth in such a simple statement. In reality, both the school and the future belong to the young and the future depends to a large measure upon the schools.

In Elsinore if you go by the elementary school with a child he can only say, "That's my half-day school." Every boy and girl in grades kindergarten through eighth attend school for only half day due to the shortage of classrooms.

There are several reasons why we feel the school bonds should be supported.

- 1 Elsinore has the worst school housing of any school district in Riverside County. There is no other elementary district on half-day sessions like Elsinore.
- 2 Elsinore has next to the lowest total school tax in Riverside County. Palm Springs with its high assessed value is the only city with a lower rate. Elsinore is paying less tax for school bonds than any school district with more than 100 pupils in the county.
- 3 School enrollment continues to set a new record each week. There are over 870 students in school at the present time. Enrollment has increased 60 students since November 1st of this school year. 21 students within the last three weeks.
- 4 We need to build at least two new classrooms each year to house new pupils. We have constructed only two portable classrooms in the last 11 years.
- 5 If the Bonds and State Aid election passes the average tax increase in the school district would be less than $5.40 per year, or 45c per month, or 1½c per day.

But logic is not the only reason for support of the school bond election. Perhaps it is not even the basic reason. We should look at each child in our district and ask ourselves if he deserves equal educational facilities with children of other districts. There is only one answer. Our Elsinore children are entitled to as good school facilities as any other district's children. We should recognize this right of our children. Our boys and girls are our greatest treasure. Don't let them down. Let's all vote "YES" for School Bonds and State Aid on March 5th.

How will the money be used?

1—ELSINORE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Construction of multi-purpose room with kitchen and office. The condemned buildings will be torn down and the area which they occupy will be converted to playground area. There will be twelve classrooms at this school.

2 NEW SCHOOLS

A new school will be constructed at the west end of the lake on the site purchased by the district three years ago. Sixteen classrooms, a multi-purpose room with kitchen and office will be constructed.

3—WILDOMAR SCHOOL

Construct four classrooms and move the metal classroom from the Elsinore Elementary School and join it with the metal building existing at the Wildomar School. This will make eight classrooms at Wildomar in all.

La Laguna Revue feels that this project is a must. There can be no other answer to this present condition than a "Yes" vote for School Bonds and State Aid March 5. ■

Miss Anza goes places!

By CLYDE RIGGS PERKINS

Our Judy made such a success in the royalty field of beauty when selected last Fall as queen of Anza Trail Days, that Mr. Fred Holland took pictures and data of her to a meeting of the California Rural Electric Co-operative Association and presented her name as a candidate to represent the California Co-operatives to the National Convention in Las Vegas.

It had been 12 years since California had a representative for Miss Rural Electrification, and Judy's qualifications gained her the privilege of representing the California Co-operatives as "Miss California."

Each girl attending was accompanied by a chaperone, and Mrs. Fred Holland of Anza, wife of the manager of the Anza Co-operative was perfect as Judy's chaperone, attending all events with her, and assisting her in any way possible. They left for Vegas Sunday morning, January 13, and for three days attended one meeting after another, including some having special honors for Judy.

The first morning of the Convention, the outgoing queen gave a Coke party for all contestants and their chaperones. Another time Judy was guest of honor at a dinner at the Stardust Hotel for all the members from the Anza Co-operative. These included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holland and five board members and their wives.

Before the selection of the new queen was made,

Judy Lanik — "Miss Anza"

two 2-hour sessions at a modeling school were attended by the contestants, where they were instructed in the correct and best manner to present themselves, such as walking, correct apparel, and general manner of conducting themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Holland thrilled Judy when they took her to see South Pacific one evening at the Thunderbird Theatre Restaurant.

All ladies attending the convention, and the contestants went one noon hour to a luncheon and fashion show for them at the Flamingo Hotel. Contestants were seated at a special table, so they could better view the fashion show and take further hints as to the way they should present themselves when their hour came.

At a luncheon for all the members from the various California Co-operatives, Judy was their special guest and was introduced as their Miss California, and at a general session of the convention, (attendance approximately 7000) all nine contestants were introduced, each girl receiving a clock-radio as a gift from the General Electric Co., and a pearl bracelet from the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association.

While Judy did not win the contest, she made the California Co-operatives very proud to be represented by her, and since she was theirs, she will always be a queen in their books.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lanik of Anza, Judy's parents were there for the selection of the queen, and stayed on for a few days after the convention for a little vacation, and to show Judy more of Las Vegas and points of interest on the way home. With such a wonderful and efficient chaperone and the later vacation with her parents, Judy had One Wonderful Time. And let's just watch Judy as time goes by—she's liable to go more places!

Speaking of taxes—

California Electric Power Company released figures in February showing that it will pay more than $1.1 million in taxes in Riverside County during the tax year ending June 30, 1963, making it the county's third largest taxpayer.

Of the county's five largest taxpayers, the first four are investor-owned public utilities and the fifth is a mining and manufacturing corporation. Callectric officials said.

Callectric's total tax bill for 1962-63 on property it owns in Riverside County is $1,102,532.90. This is about one quarter of the total amount of $4,494,000 the company will pay in taxes throughout its entire service area.

Callectric pays taxes to eight California counties—Mono, Inyo, Kern, San Bernardino, Riverside, Imperial, Orange and Los Angeles and to two irrigation districts which collect their own taxes.

Riverside County schools will receive nearly half or $530,134.83 of the total amount of taxes Callectric pays in Riverside County this year, the figures showed. The county receives the second largest share of $317,511.35 while special districts will receive $177,475.93 and cities will receive $77,410.79.

A breakdown of the company's entire tax bill for the year shows that schools in its service area will receive more than $2.6 million; the counties more than $1.3 million; cities more than 177,000 and special districts more than $398,000.

Callectric officials said that $805,536 was paid in the first installment to Riverside County in December and $296,996 will be paid in the second installment which is due in April.

That's the story of Queen Scheherazade and her nine princesses at the recent Riverside County National Date Festival at Indio.

We had our money on

Erma Salas of Elsinore and Cynthia Zeiders of Perris, as an entry, but not having been present at the post parade we did not see the other eight at the starting gate so our judgment was of little value.

So the title and crown went to Vicki Palmer of Palm Springs, the Queen Scheherazade of the 1963 event.

Here is her court of princesses: Erma Salas of Elsinore, Cynthia Zeiders of Perris, Marlene Smith of Corona, Jacqueline Bassett of Hemet, Judy Bartlett of Palo Verde Valley, Cindy Broyles of Beaumont, Dena Burkhardt of Coachella Valley, Lynne Dittmar of San Jacinto and Jeannie Roberts of Banning.

The wedding of Patricia Parker

By GAREY CARR

Dr and Mrs. Horace Parker request the pleasure of your company . . .

It was the wedding of Patricia Jean Parker of Balboa Island and Howard Lane Hall of West Los Angeles on January 26 and the setting was the old Temecula Hotel, a Victorian landmark in the little town of Temecula.

Judge Vernon Hilliard of Murrieta performed the ceremony before 200 guests in the original community hall of the old hotel.

The wedding party descended the old fashioned, partially enclosed staircase and circled through rooms, filled with guests, into the hall where an aisle had been marked off with white standards connected with ribbons and bows. Tall baskets of white dahlias and stock flanked the bride and bridegroom as they stood against a background of Victorian lace curtains covering a double window.

The bride wore a gown of batiste and old lace. In the deep circular yoke, lace insertions alternated with tiny tucks. The bridal dress might have been worn by a young woman of the 1890s with its standing lace collar, top puffs over tight-fitting sleeves, satin girdle belt and a semifitted skirt with wide flare to the floor. It was a replica of the wedding gown of Mrs. Bessie Gonzalez Barnett who was a bride of the 1890s in Temecula Valley. Laverne Parker, the bride's mother, had copied the gown of her old friend for the occasion.

The bride, Patricia Ann Parker, the groom, Howard Lane Hall and Judge Vernon Hilliard of Murrieta, who tied the knot.

Francine Garner of Yuma, who caught the bride's bouquet; the bride, and her sister, Judith Lee Parker, honor a'ttendant.

The bride wore an elbow length veil and carried an old fashioned bouquet of white gardenias centered with an orchid.

The bridegroom also wore a costume of the 1890s — black suit with tails, low-cut gray vest, a standing starch collar with points turned down, and a black bow tie.

Judith Lee Parker was her sister's honor attendant, dressed in moss green satin with brocade and black velvet ribbon trim. The sleeves of her bodice were puffs with self-trimming over the top. Her collar was a band of black velvet with lace ruching. The full satin skirt of her gown swept the floor in back.

The bride's other attendants were Mrs. Donald Hugh of Alhambra, sister of the bridegroom, wearing a dress of combined apple green silk and satin; Mrs. Dennis DuVall of Borego in green brocade and old lace, both in the style of the '90s. All attendants carried old fashioned bouquets of gardenias.

Flower girl was Kathleen Hugh, niece of the bridegroom, wearing a white batiste and lace dress which had been worn many years ago by her paternal grandmother. Bardon Hugh, nephew of the bridegroom, acted as ring bearer, wearing a ruffled Lord Fauntleroy blouse and green kneepants. Will Hancock of Palos Verdes Estates was his friend's best man, wearing an 1890 suit similar to that of the bridegroom.

In fact, not only the principals and attendants were dressed in the style of the 1890s but many of the guests as well, as the timing of the whole affair was set for that period of the gay nineties.

Ushers were Donald Hugh of Alhambra, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Larry Wagner of Elsinore, cousin of the bride.

The receiving line headed by Dr. and Mrs. Horace Parker of Balboa Island, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pratt Hall of West Los Angeles, parents of the bridegroom, was formed on the long Monterey - type porch across the front of the

Dr. and Mrs. Horace Parker, parents of the bride and owner of Temecula Hotel.

While the marriage was the main event on the program it was a fiesta for the 200 guests present who spread out over the entire 24 rooms of the hotel for an afternoon and evening of gaiety.

Music was furnished by a trio with banjo, guitar and fiddle, playing old time music, while some of the guests danced the Virginia reel and squares.

If you are wondering how an entire hotel could be taken over for a one-day celebration it should be explained that the property was purchased December 12, 1960 by Dr. Parker. It was closed and in a run-down condition at the time of the purchase but Dr. Parker has been restoring it to its original condition holding to the true Victorian style in all improvements.

The original hotel, built on the present site, burned down January 3, 1891 and was rebuilt the same year by John and Mary Jane Welty. It was known as the Welty Hotel. It housed a grocery store in one wing, post office in the other, lobby in the center, kitchen in back with eight bedrooms upstairs. Rest rooms were in outhouses at the rear of the building but were not called rest rooms in those days. They were called a privy. However the name rest room was no doubt derived from the operation of the privy as a certain amount of rest was included as visitors scanned the latest offerings of the mail order house catalogue while occupying the premises.

All that has changed row. The hotel passed through the hands of several owners but when Dr. Parker took over the property it was a 24-room hotel, well built but badly in need of repair. So far it has been a playhouse for the Parker family. Dr. Parker has two signs—one reads Temecula Hotel, the other Private Residence and he displays the one which best suits his purpose at the time. Incidentally the rest rooms are now within the building and the literature formerly provided has been discontinued.

But back to the wedding scene. While some of the guests were dancing the minuet and other dances of the gay nineties some of the non-dancing guests congregated on the long Monterey porch and widow's walk for discussing the good old days.

Refreshments were found in a room at the north end of the porch and a barbecue was served in the rear yard near the original wine cellar, a separate small building of granite stones, quarried in the nearby hills.

The conventional wedding cake was served in one end of the hall where the dancing was taking place.

The wedding gifts were on display in an upstairs room where guests wandered in and out of the bedrooms, admiring the old fashioned mahogany, oak and cherry bedroom sets, and the redecorating with wall paper and carpets of 1890 patterns. Portiers of beads strung with eucalyptus seed pods formed the entrance to an upstairs parlor.

It was truly a gay ninety setting. Many of the guests had rummaged through attics, and trunks for costumes, others had rented official costumes, but the atmosphere was there. One gay blade, equipped with arm bands and pointed shoes was rolling a Bull Durham cigarette with wheat-straw paper and was doing a very professional job.

Derbies, stovepipe hats, long tailed coats, handlebar mustaches, high buttoned shoes and reticules were in evidence, and one man, who evidently arrived on his bicycle, had forgotten to remove his pants guard clips.

Dr. Parker, historian of the region, and the three artists in his family, his wife Laverne and daughters Patricia and Judith, had given a great deal of thought to the project of simulating for the wedding of Patricia and Howard the time in history of the hey-day of the Temecula Hotel and had succeeded.

Homemade dresses in authentic styles, old fashioned barbecued meat cooked in the ground the night before, old time dancing to the fiddle, banjo and guitar, highlighted the affair.

Mrs. Richard Stewart of Laguna Beach wore a handsome brown velvet and brocade; Mrs. Hazel Wagner, grandmother of the bride, wore a black velvet with leg o'mutton sleeves; Mrs. Hall, mother of the bridegroom, wore purple satin, trimmed with bands of a darker velvet; Mrs. Parker, mother of the bride, wore green velvet with brocade trim while Dr. Parker wore a black suit with brilliant red brocaded vest.

Over hill and dale, rain or shine, but mostly shine, we find our hero, Milton Papini, plumber, Rotarian, man-about-town and now the live wire chairman of the Elsinore Chamber of Commerce Membership Committee, wending his way in search of new members. Here we find him having cornered A. G. Morris, real estate developer, and giving him the membership pitch. From all indications Milt just about has him—he's putting on the pressure and Art is weakening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wood stand beside the ivory front porch of their brick and concrete home overlooking the Menifee Valley.

This is the house that Harry built

If you are planning on being cast on a desert island in the near future we suggest you get in touch with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wood—maybe you can induce them to go along, and if so you will be sure to survive.

Harry and Opal Wood were cast on a desert 40 acres in the Menifee Valley not too many years ago and just look what happened!

Harry lacks just one year of being a native son. He was born in Carl Junction, Missouri and arrived in Los Angeles when he was one year old. His father engaged in the brick and tile work in Los Angeles and that's how Harry learned to recognize a brick when he saw one which had an important bearing on his future.

The family made frequent moves about the city, in fact, Harry tells us they had moved 21 times before he reached the eighth grade in school and while that may not have had any bearing on his future, maybe it did, because some years later he took a job as western representative of an eastern pharmaceutical house which required him to travel the nine western states as a salesman.

And it did have a bearing on his future because it was here that he met Opal, the girl who was to be the future Mrs. Wood.

Opal was born in Fruitland, Missouri and came to Los Angeles in 1930 to live with her grandmother. She accepted a position with the McKesson Drug Company and it was there that Harry discovered her. They were married in 1935.

Meanwhile Harry had been on the road for seven years and Opal having heard many stories about the antics of traveling salesmen was anxious to get him into some other line of business where he could be home under her watchful eye.

So Harry after having seen the business grow from $14,000 the first year to more than a million dollars the seventh, resigned his position and the couple bought 40 acres of bare land in the Menifee Valley just off Scott Road.

The parcel had been homesteaded in 1883 by Emma Budlong but no improvements had been made on the land.

The purchase was made in 1935 and for four years the couple would visit the property on weekends and dream of the future.

In 1939 they severed all city ties and Harry started building a house. It was a single handed program, Harry doing all the work, assisted by his wife and the occasional help of a neighbor, Pete Rager. Harry started out with drawn plans for the house but somehow they were lost before work started so Harry went ahead and built the thing by ear.

The accompanying photos of the house tell a better story of its construction than words. The walls and partitions are composed of two four-inch walls, with a one-inch space between them, which allows for a reinforcing steel rod every thirty inches with the space then filled with rich, soupy concrete which results in a solid nine-inch wall. Incidentally, this type of construction so im-

Opal warms her hands beside her cherished old fashioned wood stove in one corner of the kitchen.

Comfortable living is the keynote of the entire house and the living room is no exception. Note the handmade foot stools and the rough concrete floor.

This photo was taken from the rear of the house and is one of the most picturesque spots of the landscaping.

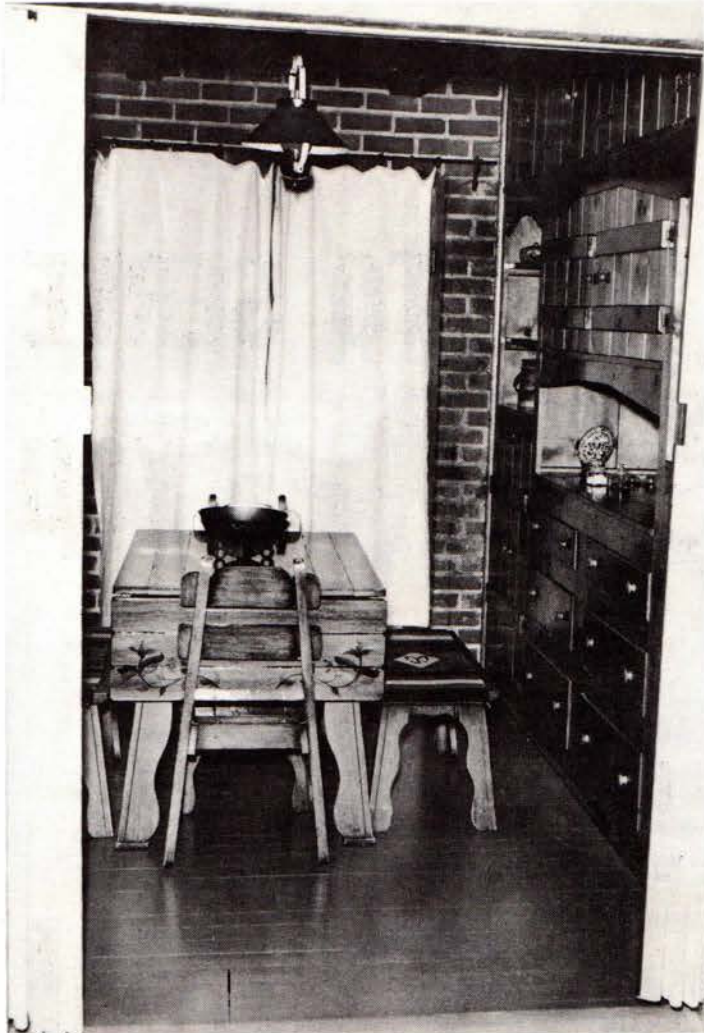

Here is a corner of the living room showing the 6 by 6 beamed ceiling. The only article that takes it out of the 19th century is the television.

Opal and Harry stand at the side entrance that leads to the long porch and kitchen and which has become the most convenient entrance to the house for visiting guests.

pressed a visiting engineer from Bakersfield, after the Bakersfield earthquake of a few years ago, that the city has now incorporated the method in its building code.

Harry hauled all the sand necessary for the brick work from his own 40 acres and the brick was hauled in from Highgrove two thousand at a time at a delivered price of only $14 per thousand.

Six by six ceiling beams are used throughout the house which were too heavy for one man to lift but the delivery man assisted Harry each time in helping him to put them in place.

Door frames were designed by Harry and proved so practical that Jimmie Burrell of the Peris Lumber Company, where they were milled, asked permission to use the design for other customers.

The floors are of concrete and there is a concrete cellar so well constructed that it would serve as a bomb shelter should the occasion ever arise. In fact the entire house is such a solid mass that strong winds, which tried at first to blow it down, long ago gave up and now go around it instead. It is like the Rock of Gibraltar.

And the furnishings too are in keeping with the construction of the house. The rocking chairs, foot stools, and various accessories make one feel it is a home constructed and furnished before the turn of the century.

And the house was not the end of Harry's building spree. He wasn't ready to retire and still had to make a living so he started on an ambitious program of building in preparation of launching into the egg producing business. This required buildings equal if not greater than the home and he was still doing all the work himself, assisted by his wife, as before, and with the occasional help of his neighbor.

The chicken business proved a great success. When he retired in 1961 he was supplying the city of Guenther's Murrieta Hot Springs with all its eggs which was a quantity of some magnitude.

Now Harry and Opal are living the life of Riley in their comfortable house on their little estate of eight acres, the balance of the original forty having been sold in recent years.

They have an excellent well, two in fact, and a cement swimming pool, (should an income tax representative be reading this story that pool is really a reservoir) so the future looks rosey to both.

However, if you are headed for that desert island, have a talk with Harry and Opal before you leave, if they won't go along, and we doubt that they would, they will at least give you some good advice on how to survive. ■

Rotary Club marks anniversary

The Rotary Club of Elsinore last month celebrated the 58th anniversary of the founding of Rotary in Chicago on February 23, 1905.

Bob Bennett, president of the Rotary Club of Lake Elsinore, addressing the meeting, said, "The celebration of this occasion is global in scope, for there are more than 11,400 Rotary clubs and 529,000 Rotarians in 128 countries. That means that Rotary meetings marking this occasion are being held in many languages, including Arabic, Danish, Finnish, French, Portuguese, Chinese, Japanese, and Persian."

The Rotary Club of Lake Elsinore, organized in February, 1954, has 34 members, all business and professional men of this community. They represent a cross-section of the city's business life since the membership of a Rotary club is composed of one representative from each business or professional activity of a community. This principle of membership had its beginning in the first Rotary club and has continued through the decades as a cornerstone of Rotary.

As its 58th year begins, Rotary is growing at the rate of one club a day. During 1962, four new

"Dad was one of those persons who couldn't stand a squeaky floor. After moving into a house he would stand on the floor and teeter up and down on his heels to see if he could cause it to squeek. Quail Valley — a country club hideout

Quail Valley is a combination of country club and high class subdivision.

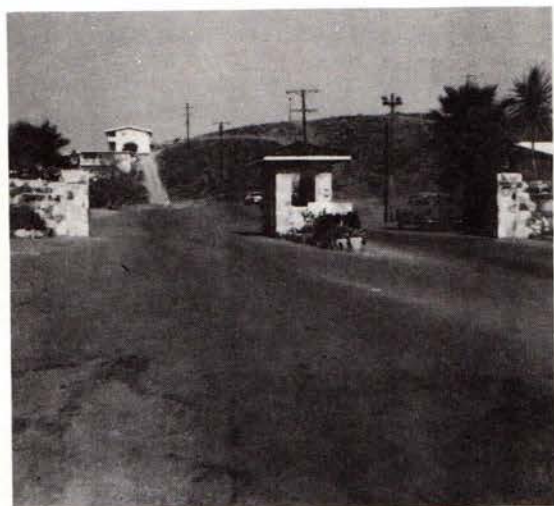

Located in rolling hills midway between Elsinore and Perris, this 3000 acre project is well hidden from main highways and all roads within its boundaries are private with the exception of Goetz, a country road which traverses the grounds from Newport Road near Railroad Canyon to Highway 74 east of Perris.

Quail Valley is a private club. A gateman meets cars at the entrance and one must pass inspection before being allowed to enter. Here is the story of

Kickoff lunch dedicates new subdivision

Elsinore Lakeview Estates tract, one of the most important real estate projects scheduled for Elsinore this year was revealed Thursday, February 14, at a luncheon meeting held at the Bar-D-Ranch Inn.

The new subdivision of 160 acres lies in the newly annexed section east of Elsinore and plans are made to subdivide 40 acres into one-acre homesites.

The lots will be sold under strict building restrictions designed to develop one of the top residential sections in the city.

Bulldozers were scheduled to start work February 25. The owners and subdividers are H. Lew Zuckerman, Mark P. Crane, Bert Gottlieb and Joseph M. W. Joosten, the latter a well known builder in Elsinore.

Those present at the kickoff dinner, in addition to the four principals, were Riverside County Supervisor William Jones, Mayor Thomas C. Bartlett, Councilmen Stewart, Hitt and Yarborough, City Administrator Guler, John Merrifield, chairman City

Planning Commission; Rupert Lucas, Nate Schulman and Roger Mayhall, members of the Planning Commission; D. R. Murrieta makes ready for annual barbecue

This is the time of the year in Murrieta when the old timers start licking their chops in anticipation of the coming of the annual firemen's barbecue.

And the young ones, just getting their second set of teeth, are being told the wonders of this annual affair by their parents, grandparents, and great-grandparents, many of whom have had many sets of teeth.

The big event has been set for April 21 but in a land where one day is the same as the day just passed and tomorrow will be like unto it, with only Christmas, New Years, the Fourth of July and Thanksgiving to break the monotony, it is not surprising that the natives relive the scenes of each barbecue until the next one rolls around and about March of each year become as frisky as a thoroughbred horse, long overdue for a race.

Hundreds of post cards, advertising the barbecue, will be made available this month and may be picked up at the postoffice or the town hall, without charge, to be mailed to friends and particularly to former residents of Murrieta and early in April the annual migration from Washington, Oregon, Arizona and Nevada will begin.

While committees are working on the entertain-

RIGHT

BY GAREY CARR

Our dog, Jack, loves apples. He says "an apple a day keeps the veterinarian away." and we hope he is right.

Here's one you might try on your piano when you have nothing better to do:

How much wood would a woodchuck chuck if a woodchuck would chuck wood? Now a woodchuck could and would chuck wood but there is no reason why he should. But how much wood would a woodchuck chuck if a woodchuck would chuck wood?

Alright, so you have heard it before. Then read it to that six-year old son or daughter of yours, perhaps they haven't heard it. Anyway, we have to fill this column with something.

Our publisher told the Rotary Club a story about a man who was plowing his field with his shirt off but we can't remember how the thing ended. Maybe he just got sunburned.

Here are twelve rules for raising delinquent children as prepared by the police department of Houston, Texas:

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad cate. It will also encourage him to pick up "cater" phrases that will blow off the top of your head later.

3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait till he is 21 and then let him "decide for himself."

4. Avoid use of the word "wrong." It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe, later, when he is arrested for stealing a car, that society is against him and he is being persecuted.

5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around—books, shoes and clothing. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing all responsibility onto others.

6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful that the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feast on garbage.

7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will not be too shocked when the home is broken up later.

8. Give a child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as You had them.

9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink, and comfort. See that every sensual desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.

10. Take his part against neighbors, teachers and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.

11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying "I never could do anything with him."

12. Prepare for a life of grief. You will be apt to have it.

Once messenger

If you have been wondering how Judge Vernon Hilliard of Murrieta made his first million you will be surprised to learn that he saved it all out of his earnings as a messenger boy back in Pratt County, Kansas.

He got his start in 1902, while going to school, when he was made official messenger boy for the Western Union Co., covering the entire county.

He had a pony named Daisy, which he kept parked at the depot, and when a message came in the station agent got in touch with Vernon and away he and Daisy went, just like the midnight ride of Paul Revere and neither rain, snow or sleet prevented this gallant messenger boy from delivering his telegram.

Sometimes he rode as far as 15 miles to deliver one telegram but he was well paid for his effort—he got 10 cents for each one delivered, and he saved every cent of it. That's the way he got his start. But things were different in those days—you could get a loaf of bread or a good cigar for 5 cents. No wonder they say "those were the good old days."

History of Elsinore Woman's Club

By FLORENCE I. RICHARDS

The previous articles carried the club history through December 1957, and as time and space are limited for this, the final installment, the record will appear in an entirely different form.

The three presidents, each serving two-year terms, in office from 1957 up to the present time of February 1961 were respectively: Mesdames C. W. Richards, Edward L. Misner Sr., and B. C. James. Installations were varied and unique: Mrs. Ed L. Misner Jr. was the installing officer for Mrs. Richards' second year, and carried the ceremony out in a "Space Ship" setting; Mrs. Betty Reimer used the pink candle ceremony to install Mrs. Ed Misner Sr. for her first year; and Mrs. Beatrice Shaw did the honors for her second installation using the red rose routine. Mrs. C. W. Richards installed Mrs. B. C. James using the club flower, the Shasta Daisy and yellow roses; Mrs. Clyde Banta was Mrs. James' installing officer in 1962 whose setting was a large wheel with rainbow-colored spokes, which represented the duties of the officers and membership.

In July 1958 the Woman's Club entered a float in the Diamond Jubilee of Elsinore. It was called "An Old-fashioned Ice-cream Social." It placed first in its division and received a blue ribbon trophy. The decorating of the float was accomplished through the efforts of many of the members.

The two club members chosen "Woman of the Year" were Mrs. C. C. Wagner 1958, Mrs. Anthony Junkley 1959 and Mrs. C. H. Lee 1960.

The Valentine dinner-dance parties were beautiful and outstanding in every detail in February 1958 and '59. They were under the capable direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ed L. Misner Jr., and Mesdames Eugene Vandermark and J. D. McDowell. The decorations were superb, with beautiful table centerpieces of cupid and lovers carved out of a block of ice, and the cakes decorated by Mrs. Phyllis Cionni were truly exquisite.

The Art Shows under the hand of Mrs. E. L. Clapp, and the Flower Shows under Mrs. Harve French grow more beautiful every year with increased interest being shown by the people of the valley.

The programs given at the monthly club luncheons have been of great merit and interest. Space will not allow the recording of them all, but the following are just a few of them:

The "New Star Tones," a musical trio of talented young children. Ted Connebear, Bibleland Sculptor; Rev. Ralph Love, one of the valley's noted artists; a film, "The Man from Tarsus, and Jack Rank's "One Man Show," an artist in the portrayal of Shakespearean characters; Concert Violinist, Alfred Walters, a student of Jasch Heifetz; organ recitals by Orville Foster and Mel Rose. Programs of the Elsinore school children under the direction of Mrs. Jean Hayman were always appreciated.

The club enjoyed several of their own members whose topics were varied. Mrs. "Pat" Wilson spoke on a subject—no doubt dear to her own heart — "In Washington—Next to Heaven." Mrs. T. J. Hudson gave a wonderful paper on "Americanism." Mrs. Roland Williams gave a book review on "The Edge of Sadness" by Edwin O'Connell, who had published a best seller entitled "The Last Hurrah," which was a great display of her talent as a book reviewer. Also several skits and talent in songs by club members were presented through these years.

The Valley Players under the direction of Mrs. Florence Hayden presented a musical comedy entitled "Gypsy Life," which was written by her late husband, Everett Hayden.

The club continues year after year to support all community drives. The Girl Scouts are sponsored by the club. Just one of their projects brought to the attention of the public was the planting and watering of trees in Cariso Ortega Highway under the direction of Mrs. Della Clark, conservation chairman.

The drives supported by Womens Federated clubs are the Community Chest, Tuberculosis, Red Cross, Heart Fund, Cancer Fund, Easter Seals, Etc. They also participate in scholarships for deserving students.

The most interesting thing I have discovered about this column was how easily and naturally the errors came to me. Take the picture of Mrs. Perret opening her gifts, the first young lady is not Berdine Swan as I so glibly stated but Janie Koeke. Then in the Tomlinson photo, I just reversed the names, so pick up the February issue and read backwards and all is well.

I received a letter from Roy Hopkins former policeman of Elsinore. He and his family are living in Atascadero, California but keeping up with everyone in town through the Revue.

That colored January cover wasn't as simple as it looked. Our progressive publisher, always open to new ideas, experimented with a new type of ink and it turned out to be not the quick drying kind necessary for a long press run. As a result each cover had to be hand powered as a mother powders her baby and the entire staff was put to work with a powder puff and a can of powder. Only one section of the shop is shown in the above photo but you may recognize some of the characters. Look carefully and you will note that neither our enterprising publisher or our evasive editor are in the lineup.

Bernice LaVerne Planchon, former Elsinore resident and at one time employed in the Elsinore City Hall as Deputy City Clerk, recently married Wallace Edmond Stanner at the Hemet Methodist Church. Our congratulations to the newlyweds.

Marsha Moode, a junior at the University of Southern California, will be the new Ramona for the 1963 season of California's most enduring outdoor pageant. Pageant dates will be announced in the April issue.

Everyone is trying to keep Elsinore in front of the people and I feel that Bill Gullat of Hodges Ford Company on Main Street really has the unique idea. A frame for your new 1963 license plates with the word Elsinore on it. Now don't get me wrong, it's not free, first you purchase an 18 pound box of charcoal for $1.69 then they hand you a new frame for your plates. Oh, yes, it says Hodges Ford Company on the frame also, but it's my understanding that Bill doesn't care if you drive a Cad, Chevy, or even a VoVo, he just wants Elsinore to come alive. We live here, and this gives each of us the chance to be our own Chamber of Commerce.

Don't forget that March 17 is St. Patrick's Day and that is the time to send all of the Cathleens and O'Hara's a note of remembrance.

Elsinore is one of the few towns in the area that can boast of trees growing overnight on the sidewalks of town. The Elsinore Chapter of American G. I. Forum donated three planter boxes with a tree in each to John Merrifield of John's Furniture and Appliances; Joe Seitz of Seitz Liquor Store and Hugh Walker of C. W. Harris and Son as its way of expressing its gratitude to these men for the assistance they have given the Forum.

The planters, made of redwood, are located in front of stores mentioned and are a welcome sight as you walk on the sidewalks of Elsinore.

Shuffleboard, the kind played on a table, in a building, and with a good right or left arm to push the putts, is coming back to life in Elsinore and the Valley in a big way.

The Lake Elsinore Valley Shuffleboard League recently held its banquet and trophy presentation at the Elsinore Recreation Center. Members of the League are Don's Hyde-a-way, Meadowbrook Inn, Vista Del Lago, Madrigal's Cafe, Southside Cafe and Pete and Ida's. Each team has six players and in the photo below Don Hyde and Marian Wigler are about to display their ability. Walt Evans is an interested observer.

In this photo Del Spruell is presenting Don Hyde with the trophy that the Don's Hyde-a-way team won with their skill on the board.

There is nothing like a good dinner after a tournament as Florence and Aubrey Berry, Ben and Rita Madrigal, Ramona Madrigal, Stan Upton and Jane

The next League games have already begun with two new teams joining the group, the Recreation Center and the Playhouse.

o

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fautsch of Chicago, Illinois are spending thirty days in the valley at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harrison.

Mrs. Fautsch is the sister of Mrs. Harrison's father Mr. Bachim and the brother and sister had not seen each other for 29 years, so this visit by the Fautschs is quite an event for everyone.

Mr. Fautsch is a roofing contractor in Illinois and this is their first visit to California. In May the Fautschs are going to Europe to visit family and friends.

Welcome to Elsinore Valley and Southern California, Mr. and Mrs. Fautsch. While you are here why not visit Capistrano Mission, the swallows are due home soon.

VETERANS COLUMN

A merry heart doeth

Another year and another candle on the cake, and how quickly these years come and go. March 24, 1958 the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of World War I, Barracks 924, was organized in Elsinore. There were thirteen charter members, and all of them are still in or near Elsinore: Mita Reed, Marion Adams, Iva Culpepper, Maude Trueitt, Bessie Forbear, Bennie Hudson, Bessie Jackson, Dorothy Kahn, Lillie Jackson, Mary Rebando, Inez Quinn, Mary Leonardo and Maude Shannon.

March 11th there will be a joint installation of officers for 1963: President Flarrie Haller; Senior Vice President Wilson; Junior Vice President Gertrude Law; Treasurer Mona Leese; Secretary Bessie Jackson; Chaplain Iva Culpepper; Conductress Elizabeth Henderson; Flag Bearer Marion Adams; Guard Ottawa Hamilton; Trustees Maude Shannon, Mazie Glick and Florence Hogsette.

The Barracks 924 was chartered in August of 1957 and there are twenty-three of the thirty charter members still in or near Elsinore. Ray Murphy was the first Commander and it is interesting to note that Ray Murphy has been elected Commander for 1963. John Hoffman was their first Quartermaster and will again serve in that office for 1963. Other officers to be installed March 11th: Senior Vice Commander Jerry Villarreal; Junior Vice Commander Moppins; Judge Advocate Bob Culpepper; Chaplain Frank Law; Trustees Monroe, Fenner and Wilson.

Color Guard of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 1508; Ben Madrigal . . . Jim Trueitt . . . Henry Alonzo . . . Manuel Alonzo. The member carrying the Flag of the U. S. A. is Jim Trueitt, a charter member of the Veterans of World War I, Barracks 924; Quartermaster for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 1508; American Legion, Lynn Mori Post 200; American G. I. Forum; Disabled War Veterans, Riverside Chapter 28; and Secretary of the Lake Elsinore Valley Veterans Association.

In 1949, a few World War I veterans in the Cleveland, Ohio, area set out to form an organization composed exclusively of those men who had fought in 1917 and 1918. They adopted the title "The Veterans of World War I of the U. S. A. Inc.

Their first National Convention was held in Baltimore on Armistice Day in 1953 with Emanuel Levy of Ford Wayne, Ind. named National Commander. Since that time the progress of the organization has been spectacular. There is a spirit of dedication and enthusiasm within the ranks of members and at this time it appears that when the next National Convention is held, the ultimate goal might well be attained.

Meet Gertrude and Frank Law, members of the Veterans of World War I, Barracks 924 and Auxiliary. Frank is a charter member, and served as their first Chaplain, and has been elected Chaplain for 1963.

Murrieta Town Hall sends S.O.S.

By the Ex-Secretary of the Town Hall Association

The old town hall, she ain't what she used to be . . . that's the familiar song the board of directors is singing these days, that it, what is left of it, as the monthly board meetings have dwindled to a point where a quorum present has become a rarity.

Back in 1957 a public-spirited lady by the name of Mrs. Hunt deeded five acres of ground, in the heart of Murrieta, along with a four-room cottage, to the Murrieta Town Hall Association, reserving a life estate in the property for herself. She died the same year and the cottage was converted into a Town Hall designed especially for the youth of the community, which had been the wish of Mrs. Hunt.

The Town Hall was a lively place for the next three or four years. It became the meeting place for the boy scouts, girl scouts, Murrieta Live Wires, a riding club, 4-H members, the Republican Women's Club, and occasional meeting of the local center of the Farm Bureau. The Murrieta Chamber of Commerce was organized here and continues to meet in the Town Hall.

However, in the last couple of years many of the most ardent supporters of the Town Hall movement have moved away and the boys and girls of a few years ago have grown up, some are in college, some are even married and their interest no longer centers in the Murrieta Town Hall.

At the last board meeting, held in February, the board members had been reduced to seven, from a high of 15, and of the seven only four were present; Chairman Gladys Freeman, Vic Garrison, Lawrence Dunham and Secretary Garey Carr.

At this meeting the board got rid of Garey Carr who had been secretary for the past six years, he resigned amid the cheers of the other three board members present and this lucrative job is now open.

We should not fail to include the name of Howard Sykes among the die-hard members of the board. Howard was ill in bed at the last meeting but heretofore he has been one of the most reliable members of the board and many times we would not have had enough members present for a four-handed game of bridge had it not been for Howard. He is also the treasurer of the Town Hall and gets to carry the Association's money around in his pocket which makes him very proud and important.

Another member who has been missed during the past year is Carl Cain. He was the educated member of the board, in addition to being vice president, but he became a real estate broker a year or so ago and the only time we get a glimpse of him now he is on the run hunting down prospects.

But in all seriousness this town hall project is something that every citizen in the valley should get behind. The property is all clear and several thousand dollars have been earned by its members and invested in improvements. A concrete slab 50 by 80 feet was poured two years ago at a cost of $1600 and this has provided dancing and skating for the youth of the valley. The present board of directors would like to use this slab as the basis of building a new town hall and with full support of the community the cost would be small to the individual.

It is the dream of a few dedicated members of the board that if such a structure could be underwritten the debt could be paid off by serving occasional dinners and holding regular dances throughout the year.

There will be a general meeting of the board and members of the Murrieta Town Hall Association on Thursday, March 7, at 8 p.m. to which the public is invited and it is hoped that a full representative crowd of valley residents will be present.

The board is open to suggestions as to what to do with the present town hall. If there is not sufficient interest in a going town hall then the property may be turned over to the county for a park. The board is not going to put the bite on anyone for money or a donation, it simply wants an expression of opinion. In other words — "where do we go from here?" ■

Sun City passes 1000 population

The population of Del Webb's Sun City continues to grow and the effect of that growth on the areas adjacent to the 14,400 acre development is the same as the beginning of a new industry.

With more than 1,000 people now actually making their retirement homes in Sun City the economic impact of their spending alone is being felt by every merchant in and around the valley.

The new residents of the Sun City community, a Webb spokesman explained, are even better than a new industrial development because these people come to Sun City with an income, they have not created the need for new jobs, although many of them are still interested in part or full time employment.

The Sun City development is like having an industrial payroll without having to go to the trouble of building a plant, setting up a production schedule or worrying about a profit or loss statement, it was pointed out.

Every city, town or community in Southern Riverside County has been benefitted by this migration of over-50 retirees to Sun City, as landlords have found a steady market of residents who are waiting for their Sun City homes. This single item has brought hundreds of couples and individuals into the county weeks and months prior to their actual move to Sun City and has resulted in a consistent "no vacancy" situation in Perris, Hemet and Elsinore as well as Riverside.

HOME WINNER — Mrs. Letha Lewis, 53, of Ceres, California visited Sun City to look over Del E. Webb's active retirement community. Mrs. Lewis won a home in any of Webb's communities, a car, and a $3,000 gift certificate from the Speigal Co. Her winning entry was one of more than 1,000,000 sent in during the three-week contest.

While waiting for Sun City builders to complete their retirement home these future residents have been assisting in the support of the business economy in almost the entire county as the services they require are the same as every other person in the area.

Grocery stores, drug stores, restaurants, service stations, garages, clothing stores, recreation facilities have all felt the impact of the migration of people from throughout the United States to the Menifee Valley and Riverside County.

You're on Candid Camera!

Del Webb's Sun City will break into the national television picture again this month with the narration of Edwin Newman of the California Population Explosion, in which Sun City scenes will be shown and Sun City residents will be interviewed. The hour-long color news show will be presented over NBC-TV at 7:30 p.m. March 14. Filming of the Sun City sequences was conducted last November 29 by Newman and an eight-man NBC film crew, specifically for the show. ■

If the only advantage to the economic situation in the area were the people who rent temporary accommodations while waiting it would be considered a major industry, but that is but a drop in the bucket, the Webb officials pointed out.

For every person who has waited temporarily for their Sun City home there have been hundreds who have come to see the nationally publicized retirement city who have added hundreds of thousands of dollars to the economy.

The area has been publicized by newspapers, magazines, television, radio and word of mouth throughout the world as visitors to Sun City have taken the active retirement story back to their homes.

SCENE AT SUN CITY — Attractive two-bedroom cooperative apartments with their landscaped yards create a pretty picture on Augusta Drive in Del Webb's Sun City where more than 1,000 people are now active as permanent residents.

PARKER WEDDING

Berkeley. At UC Santa Barbara, he will complete his work begun in physics and continue in law.

As we made our way into the night air to the strains of "After the Ball" being played by the trio, we fully expected to find our Indian Mustang pony, Don, tied to the hitching post patiently awaiting our return, but instead we were rudely awakened from our dream by finding our Chrysler instead.

Well, maybe it was just as well. Don was a three-year-old back in 1893, which would make him 73 years old this year, and that's pretty old for a horse.

The remnants of our fantasy had vanished. We were back in the world of income taxes, sales taxes, withholding taxes and nuclear bombs—push-button services and ulcers.

Anyway, thanks, Dr. Parker, and Mrs. Parker, too, for making it possible for us to live, if only for a few hours, in that grand and glorious period of the past century — the gay nineties. ■

Drop In For Brunch

Eighteen persons dropping in for breakfast at the Bar-D Ranch Inn is not an unusual occurrence but when the 18 drop in from the sky it is a little out of the ordinary and that's exactly what happened early in January when 18 sky divers from Skylark Field guided their parachutes to a safe landing just behind the Inn and not more than a hundred yards away.

The divers were joined by several pilots of the planes who had made their landing at Skylark Field and driven over to the Inn in their cars. Ho hum. What have you heard from Mars? ■

They had planned to walk twice around Lake Elsinore, 36 miles, carry signs advertising a "Yes" vote for the elementary school bond election which is coming up for vote on March 5.

They all made the first round but no one finished. Sally Misner, one of the hikers, went about one and one-half times, ending on Mission Trail near the Bar D Ranch Inn, where she was forced to hollar "uncle."

Hiking members were, Mrs. Misner, Darlene Lee, Gretchen Hodges, Midge Snow, Rene Gullatt, Toni Stewart and Lorraine Harvey. Accompanying the hikers on bicycles were Marguerite Enochs and Marguerite Adelman. ■

New books in library

By KIM BEST

The cadets of Elsinore Naval and Military School are appreciative of the fine collection of books and magazines that have been given to the school library by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Potter, parents of cadet Norman Potter. Colonel and Mrs. Frederick R. Stimus also contributed many valuable books.

Cadets stand in line waiting for their turn to check out the best-seller, "Fail-Safe," given to the library recently by Colonel G. R. Conklin.

Included in this fine collection were such books as "The Treasury of Science Fiction Classics," 27 volumes of "Reader's Digest Condensations," a valuable bird guide, a guide to constellations, and several war stories popular with cadets.

Extremely valuable was the great number of National Geographics which enabled the librarian to complete the file from 1957 to 1962.

Also, there were three complete volumes of the U. S. Naval Institute. The magazines are valuable to students doing research through the use of the Reader's Guide. ■

Graduating Seniors

By DOUGLAS YOUNG

This is the second of three articles to be published in the Admiral about the plans of the members of the class of 1963.

Dan Clegg plans to enroll at Fullerton Junior College and major in Auto Mechanics. He is very interested in cars and would like to become a mechanic. Dan enrolled here October, 1961. He is color sergeant and has attained a 3.0 scholastic average during his attendance.

Ernesto Colomodio from Caracas, Venezuela plans to register at the University of Puerto Rico. He desires to select his career in the field of Architecture. Ernesto has been here since 1959.

John McCord is applying for admission to Orange Coast College for two years and then another four years at the University of California at Los Angeles. He has hopes of obtaining a Doctor of Dental Science degree and begin his practice at Newport Beach, California. He has earned the rank of 2nd Lieutenant since April, 1961. John has maintained a 3.0 scholastic average since his enrollment in 1960.

Jack Miller is anxious to receive admittance to Los Angeles State College at Ramona for two years and transfer to UCLA for the upper division of college. He wants to become an Aero-Space Engineer. Jack enrolled at ENMS in September, 1962.

Jose Vasquez from Panama plans to enlist in the United States Air Force. His plans for college are uncertain as of this date. Jose has earned the rank of Sergeant First Class since September, 1959. ■

Rifle team

By JOSEPH BROMLEY

This year's rifle team at Elsinore Naval and Military School has been exceptionally good. The team does not travel to shoot, but has post matches. These post matches are just when one team shoots on their range and their opposing team shoots on theirs. The two teams then send in their scores to the main office in Sacramento, which in turn informs both teams who won the match.

The rifle team has been notified that they are rated number one in the State of California and seventeenth in the nation. This is only in their class and is considered to be very good.

The team practices every Wednesday in the gym at the Elsinore Naval and Military School. The school gym is equipped for shooting 22's. Later in the year an M 1 rifle team will be formed.

We of the Admiral Staff wish the rifle team lots of luck in the future. ■

Commandant's and Principal's list

By THOMAS KORNELL

As the cadets anxiously await the announcement of the Commandant's and Principal's list the work becomes harder and the competition increases.

Although some of the more prominent cadets were quite confident, Feb. 3, the day scheduled for these lists to be announced we found Joseph Bromley and Larry Larstead leading the Principal's list with their fifth award. Followed by Richard Corwin and Garry Gorman with the third award, Douglas Young his second award and for the first time Mike Amar, Wayne Burcham, Lee Champ, Robert Clouser, Randy Engel, Raymond Goetz, Kenneth Gorman, Timothy Knowles, James Moody, Henry Pilcher, John Pilcher, Andrew Smith, Thomas Smith, Carl Spencer, Thomas Stephenson, and Elmer Tilson who all earned a 3.5 or better scholastic average during the first semester.

The commandant's list which requires all cadets to have more merits than demerits for the first semester consisted of Joseph Bromley, Larry Larstead, and Michael Fischer again for the fifth time. Followed by Raymond Goetz, Thomas Smith, and Elmer Tilson fourth award, Garry Gorman, Kenneth Gorman, Paul Lagerfeld, Terry McCarty, James Wray, Douglas Young for third award. Cadets receiving their second award were Keith Bogaert, Lee Champ and James Moody. First award Miller, Jeffrey, James Amar, George Anderson, Thomas Ayres, William Baker, Russell Cannon, Dan Clegg, Stephen Kiefer, Timothy Knowles, Mark Koeckritz, Thomas Kornell, Henry Pilcher, John Pilcher, Michael Shulters, Thomas Stephenson, Dennis Williams.

Also at this parade Cadet Master Sergeant Mark Koeckritz was promoted to Second Lieutenant.

Cadet Corporals Richard Paul Corwin and Douglas Bruce Young were promoted to Cadet Sergeant. ■

Cougars break losing streak

By ELMER TILSON

The ENMS Cougars after winning their first three games, went on an eight game losing streak, but they broke their losing streak by beating Brown Military Academy.

The Cougars took to the court in the highest spirits and left with even higher enthusiasm after beating Brown 43 to 23. The Cougars led the game all the way.

The high point men for the Cougars were Cadets Jeff Firoved and Tom Ayres. The season for the team is almost over. They have three more games left, and they are all here on the campus.

The Admiral Staff wishes you the best of luck and we hope that you'll continue to win. ■

Thirty qualify for Principal's Honor Roll

David March

During the second quarter of the school year 30 students have qualified for a place on the Principal's Honor Roll as compared with a total of 25 for the same grading period in 1962.

To qualify as a member of the honor roll a student must be enrolled in a minimum of seven subjects, and must attain at least a "B" grade in each of the seven subjects.

The sophomore class

again produced the greatest number of scholars with a total of 13. Close on the heels of the sophomores were the seniors with a total of 12. The freshmen were third with a total of eight, followed by the juniors with a total of seven. Percentage-wise, in terms of the total number of students in each grade level, the seniors were tops with a total of 18 per cent qualifying, followed by the sophomore class with 13 per cent.

Four students earned straight "A" grades for seven subjects during the second quarter. David March repeated with a perfect report card. Joining David March was a freshman Rosemarie Cionni and sophomores Marc Berry and John McFerran.

Marc Berry

Girls' League organizes

"Loyalty — Honor — Simplicity" is the motto of the Girls' League, a newly formed service organization at Elsinore Union High School under the direction of Mrs. Katherine Keller. The organization includes every girl, and as League members, the girls work with one another and for one another. Its aims are friendship, fellowship, individual development, school and community service.

California Scholarship Federation members for the past semester

ELSINORE CHAPTER

C. S. F. welcomes new members

Membership in the California Scholarship Federation at Elsinore Union High School has increased this semester to 29 students. The C.S.F. is a privilege organization with membership open only to those students qualifying with high grades in academic subjects. Eligibility is determined by a point system which awards 3 points for an "A" and 1 point for a "B" in academic subjects (English, foreign language, mathematics, science, and history and social science). Non-academic subjects earn 1 point for an "A" and one-half point for a "B." California Scholarship Federation requires a total of 10 points for a student to become a member.

Present members are Elizabeth Averill, Marc

The C.S.F. at Elsinore High conducts money raising projects during the school year for the purpose of issuing two scholarships, one to the valedictorian, and one to the salutatorian of each graduating class.

Generally, C.S.F. members are among the top 5 or 6 per cent of the high school students in California; they are the students who have the aptitude for doing college or university work, or profiting by some form of specialized training. The organization considers that its obligation is to stimulate students not merely to strive for high grades (often accomplished by picking subjects in which high grades are easy to get), but rather to aspire to the best possible preparation for advanced training for life.

Two of the new officers with their advisor will attend a convention of the California Scholarship Federation to be held at the University of California in March.

Voice of Democracy Scriptwriting Contest winner

Dean Huddleston, junior student at Elsinore Union High School was chosen from a field of fourteen contestants to represent the school in the 16th annual Voice of Democracy Scriptwriting Contest, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Some 20 members of the speech class under the direction of Mrs. Kathleen Stiles, speech instructor, prepared five minute speeches last fall on the topic, "What Freedom Means to Me." After class eliminations, 14 speeches were taped without identification of the speakers. The tape was evaluated according to standards set by the Voice of Democracy Contest Committee of the VFW. Judges of the tape were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Upton, members of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic honor fraternity, and Mr. Charles Lee, principal of Alberhill Elementary School.

A tape of the winning speech will be entered in the Area I contest under the supervision of Mr. Charles Kemp, Garden Grove, California. Each state winner will win a trip to Washington, D. C. to compete for four college scholarships of $5,000, $3,000, $2,500, and $1,500 respectively.

Runners-up in the Elsinore Union High School competition were Jeanne Bullard and Andrea Allen. ■

High school honors physics classes have been visiting the University of California, Riverside, for a tour of the Physics Department, and an introduction into college physics.

Dr. Robert Wild, associate professor of physics, arranges the tours and demonstrations on request from student groups interested in science, particularly physics. A few experiments are conducted to illustrate to the students the scope of interest of college physics, as well as the availability of scientific equipment at UCR.

Students are also given a tour of various physics laboratories to view equipment in the Physical Science building. Included is a demonstration of the large water cooled electromagnet and the recently acquired solar furnace located on the roof.

The purpose of these tours is to acquaint high school and junior college students with college research programs, and the difference between learning fundamental physics and applying these principles in multiple experiments under laboratory conditions.

High school and junior college groups that have recently visited UCR are Elsinore High School, Fontana High School, Eisenhower High School, Colton High School and San Bernardino Valley College. Poly High and Norte Vista High Schools in Riverside have tour appointments for early February. ■

The Elsinore Chapter of the G. I. Forum was host to the Riverside Junior G. I. Forum February 17 in the Veterans Memorial Hall with all students of Mexican - American descent, between the ages of 14 to 18, invited to attend.

The purpose of the meeting was to determine whether or not there was sufficient interest among the youth to form a junior organization.

The adult chapter, which is one of the most active service groups in the county, is willing to sponsor a junior group should the interest warrant it. ■

TEMECULA CLOSES

LIBRARY

By Dolores Mayhall

Mrs. Freda Knott has gone into retirement after fourteen years as librarian of the Temecula library.

Mrs. Knott decided after having a slight heart attack to slow down. The library had already begun to do that some years back since it was only open two afternoons a week.

The population of Temecula is 207, and while quite long on history is short on people. The nearest town is Murrieta, with a population about the same as Temecula. Even with the support of two towns the library couldn't do the business to warrant it staying open.

Mrs. Knott is the wife of Alfred, local blacksmith and welder. She is the mother of twins and now has nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. ■

Plans for District Hospital discussed

A group of residents from Elsinore and Perris are seeking a district hospital for the two valleys.

At a meeting held Tuesday, February 21 at the office of Dr. Harry M. Breuer, Herbert Brayer, executive secretary for the Riverside County Medical Association outlined the steps necessary for the formation of a hospital district. He was accompanied by Dr. John Prichard of Corona who is the representative of the medical association for the Corona-Elsinore area.

The meeting, initiated by Dr. and Mrs. Breuer and Dr. and Mrs. Tracy Comstock, was to explain to the attending people how it would be possible to have a hospital without going to the people with a drive for money.

A district hospital would always be under the control of the local citizens and must meet the minimum standards of construction and inspection set up by the State Hospital Commission and licensing boards, Brayer said.

The steps for starting a district hospital, according to Mr. Brayer, are first to get a legal description of the area for the proposed district. Then secure information from the State Board of Public Health and the State Advisory Hospital Council. After that, the Riverside County Boundary Commission must be contacted to check the proposed hospital district's limits. When ten per cent of the registered voters petition the County Board of Supervisors for a hearing, the board will schedule a public hearing and listen to the arguments for and against the proposal.

After the public hearing, the supervisors may or may not order an election for the formation of a hospital district. If the election is ordered and the proposal passes, the Supervisors will appoint five men to be the initial hospital board to serve without pay. After two years the directors will be elected by the voters.

Financing, Brayer said, can be resolved through various means, such as floating a bond issue, or getting federal and state funds through the Hill-Burton program of matching funds. Taxation, he said, cannot be used to construct the hospital, but only for operation and for retiring bonds used in construction.

The area has seven active medical doctors residing within the territory. Doctors in Elsinore are Dr. Breuer, Dr. Comstock and Dr. R. J. Cavanaugh; in Perris, Dr. Robert Reid, Dr. Llewellyn Richards and in Good Hope are Dr. Armin Altemus and Dr. Glasiter Dawkins.

Library on wheels service for March

If you reside in Murrieta or Temecula and would like to visit your traveling library here is the schedule for March:

The bookmobile will be standing in front of the Murrieta postoffice Monday, March 4 from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. and again on Monday, March 18. In Temecula you will find it parked beside the M and M Market during the same hours on Monday, March 11 and Monday, March 25.
